71.0% of high school seniors do not view regular marijuana smoking as being very harmful, but 64.7% say they disapprove of regular marijuana smoking. Monitoring the Future is an annual survey of 8th, 10th, and 12th graders conducted by researchers at the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, under a grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, part of the National Institutes of Health. Since 1975, the survey has measured how teens report their drug, alcohol, and cigarette use and related attitudes in 12th graders nationwide; 8th and 10th graders were added to the survey in 1991. 43,703 students from 360 public and private schools participated in the 2017 survey.

Daily marijuana use mostly steady.

Binge drinking appears to have leveled off this year, but is significantly lower than peak years.

Marijuana or Hash Oil
Just Flavoring
Don't Know
Other
Nicotine

When asked what they thought was in the e-vaporizer mist students inhaled the last time they smoked, these were their responses:

Daily marijuana use among 12th graders has dropped dramatically in the past 15 years. Misuse of all Rx opioids among 12th graders has also dropped dramatically, despite high opioid overdose rates among adults.